Coaches, Players, Parents and Spectator Code of conduct

1. Preface

The UWA-Nedlands Football Club ("UWANFC") strongly promotes mutual respect, tolerance and quality football development. All members of UWANFC have a responsibility to display high standards of behaviour at training and during matches to ensure the enjoyment of everyone involved including players, parents, spectators, coaches and officials.

The guidelines in this document have been prepared for all parties involved at the Club in the interests of developing our players at the best possible level.

2. Coaches

Coaches are an integral part of the club and as such it is essential that coaches demonstrate the highest possible standards of behaviour. As the face of the club to players and parents, coaches must demonstrate professionalism in their behaviour and act as role models to their players. A coach must ensure a safe and positive environment for the enjoyment of all involved. Below are some of the behaviours expected from all UWANFC coaches:

I. At training

- + Coaches should always be at training at least 15 minutes before the start of their session
- + Coaches will take good care of all Club equipment and wear appropriate Club apparel.
- + Coaches will follow the advice of a physician to determine when an injured player can recommence training or playing.
- + Coaches will not use mobile phones during sessions, unless in cases of emergency.
- + Coaches should refrain from communicating with parents during training sessions as this detracts from the quality of the session, is disruptive and unprofessional.
- + Coaches will display self-respect and respect for players and parents.
- + Coaches will endeavour to provide periodical feedback on player development or general feedback for the team.

II. During Matches, in public

- + Coaches are and should be ROLE MODELS to and for everyone.
- + Club apparel shall be worn during matches, warm up and warm down.
- + Coaches should be mindful of their behaviour in public such that it does not negatively impact their reputation and that of the Club.
- + Coaches should identify a technical area (delimited by use of cones) on the side of the pitch and invite all the players not on the pitch to stay in that area during the game. Parents and spectator should not be allowed to stand in the technical area and keep a respectful distance. (Exception: team managers)
- + Coaches should not engage in any conversation with parents or spectator as that may impair their decisions as well as his/her ability to adequately support the team during the game. (Exception: team managers)
- + Coaches should refrain to engage in discussions regarding officials (referees) or opponents and should always propose peaceful resolution of potential discussions on the pitch.

In addition to the above, coaches should also adopt behaviours to:

During training, players should strive to be active and motivated, as this will help the whole team to improve.

It is essential that parents and spectators act appropriately, demonstrate high standards of behaviours and act as role models for children in their interactions with players, coaches, officials, and other parents and spectators.

Supporting their child and their team is important and natural for parents, but this needs to be done in a positive way to provide a safe environment and ensure the enjoyment for everyone involved.
